Mrs. John Q. Shumway, a sister of Judge E. L. Waterman of Brattleboro, lied at her home in Jamaica Jan. 11 of heart trouble. When she retired she seemed in her usual health.

James H. Allen, for 20 years a barber in Brattleboro, died Friday at the home of his father in Jamaica Plain, Mass., of valvular heart disease and a nervous breakdown. Mr. Allen had been in failing health for two months.

According to records kept in Brattle-boro, the year 1918 had both the highest average temperature and the coldest day in the nine years that records had been kept. The mean temperature for the year was 2.4 dgrees higher than the average for the nine-year period as well as for any one of the years, and the tem-perature on Jan. 2, 1918, was 27 below zero, the extreme low mark for the nine

A scheme for getting whiskey and other spirituous liquors into Rutland without paying the state tax of $1,000 to dealers from without the state was frustrated by a Rutland deputy sheriff last week, when he seized nearly 70 gallons of whiskey, which he found at the freight house, consigned to a certain Italian, and when a warrant was issued for the arrest of J. Poletti of New York City, who, it is alleged, had traveled over the state as a salesman for groceries, although liquor selling seemed to be his principal occupation and groceries only a side line.

Two Brattleboro boys, First Lieut, Ap-Pvt. George F. Stephens, have been dec-orated for distinguished service. The former has received the highest order of came from General Petain for distinguished service in August during a heavy smbardment, when he took the place of a French colonel of a sanitary service after the colonel was killed. Pvt. Stephens has returned to Brattleboro from overseas. He received the croix de guerre for helping to repulse a particularly savage German attack.
